

Channel Partner Testimonials

“We had been looking at buying several voice providers, but a partnership with Inclarity offered us the best fit and the right model for our customers. The hosted model is seriously attractive when compared to traditional telephony systems, and Inclarity’s solution is the most solid we’ve seen in terms of its robust infrastructure and quality of service.”

Stephen Park, Managing Director
NVT Group

“Hosted VoIP is an exciting new play for us and we believe it’s going to be a key revenue line for the business over time. One of its most significant advantages for us and for our customers is that there isn’t a big capital outlay required to set it up as all the back-end technology is hosted off site. Furthermore, we can respond to our customer’s seasonal changes in demand much more easily with Inclarity’s Hosted VoIP solution – users can be added and removed by simply accessing the system online and making changes at the touch of a button.”

Tom Perry, Head of Marketing and Networks
Freedom

“We only sell market leading technology, and we partner with companies we trust, so the choice to go with Inclarity was a no brainer. The market adoption of IP is startling but it is accounted for by the ability to push new features down an IP network far faster and easier than a traditional TDM based network.”

Paul Farn, Group CEO
Powerdial

“Inclarity has the best carrier-grade technology hands down right now in the UK, and we wanted to partner with the best. This solution will assist companies that want to take advantage of the cost benefits of hosted telephony who may not want to install a next generation phone system on their own premises.”

Mark Saunders, Founder
Clever IP

